What a happy time some glad tomorrow
When we lay these heavy burdens down
In this lonsome valley . . . no more to roam
Having laboured on thru joy and sorrow
Hoping to receive that golden crown
It will all be glory . . . in that sweet home

In that beautiful city of the sweet forever
Where the river of life goes ebbing by

We'll look upon the beauty that fades no never
And happy we'll be while the ages fly
